Describe what you are trying to fund:

Examples: Ballet school in New York City, Animal shelter in Portland, OR; Food pantry in Dallas

Include U.S. Federal Funders

Explore funding trends for your preferred subject in your chosen state

Choose subject:
- Arts and Culture

Choose state:
- Ohio
We’ll start with a simple search describing the purpose for seeking funds. Include “where the funding will be used”, in this case, “Ohio.”
Always check the “showing results” information to make sure your search returned what you’re looking for. Use advanced filters to further refine your search.
Click in the Population Served box to limit your search to different groups of people.

Additional Filters will provide more ways to fine-tune your search.
Follow the link on the left for one more important way to fine-tune your search.
There are two schools of thought on this one: first, let’s exclude anyone not accepting applications because we’re doing this for the cash. Other grant-writers are interested in any grantmakers who do fund their type of projects, even if they are not currently doing so. This allows the grant-writer the opportunity to network and hopefully to be on the grantmaker’s radar by the time they are accepting applications again. Be aware that you will need to check this box after any changes you make to your search.
